NBU meets BNP

I am pleased to hear of the recent increase in NBU membership of patriots from nationalist parties. I know how difficult it can be to leave an organisation that you have sacrificed time, money and more for. To those coming to us from the BNP I extend the hand of friendship and bid you welcome. My recent meeting convinced me that the BNP is in terminal decline. I will not go into detail as much was told to me in confidence and I prefer to remember the golden days of 2009 when the BNP was at the top of its game. I am sad to say the party is over for fighting elections in the same old way and people have to face that fact. I am not going to repeat the appalling nationalist election results over the last few years here but the writing has been on the wall for some time now. NBU are building a grass-roots movement of people not politicians to cut the feet off of the political elite, people willing to work in and for their communities, people willing to spread the truth of British fascism, people willing to act when the time comes, self-disciplined, law abiding, loyal and dedicated people. So why not join us and your fellow patriots, make your motto Leader – Comrades – Movement and help us build a better Britain.

RESULTS UPDATE

- Zulfiqar Ali (LD) 2,083 (9.84%, +5.67%)
- Adam Colclough (Green) 294 (1.39%, -2.22%)
- Barbara Fielding (Ind) 137 (0.65%)
- The Incredible Flying Brick (Loony) 127 (0.60%)
- David Furness (BNP) 124 (0.59%)
- Godfrey Davies (CPA) 109 (0.51%)
- Mohammed Akram (Ind) 56 (0.26%)

Beaten by the Raving Monster Loony Party, nothing else to say!

Recent meetings raised a lot of questions the three top ones are worthwhile reproducing here.

Why do you not have a membership fee?
We want peoples support and help and don't believe they should pay us for it, nobody in NBU gets paid or claims expenses thus we avoid any financial problems. We also welcome dual membership as a way of building unity.

The BNP has been almost wiped out by infighting how will you avoid that?
We do not operate under democracy, no committees, no chairmen, no panels, no forums or sub forums, no group or branch talking shops. We believe in the leadership principle as laid down by Mosley.

How do you operate without groups etc?
We have national regional officers (The Council of Ten) who oversee and are responsible for any number of fascist cells in their areas.

Do members have to wear uniform?
No, however they are encouraged to wear uniform at certain events, we do not stroll around playing dress up, the uniform has a purpose, it builds discipline and commitment, it is an integral part of fascism and sets us apart from all other political movements.

Why do you not stand as NBU in elections?
Have you seen the pitiful results nationalist parties now poll, we are not interested in being another coloured rosette, we want members to concentrate solely on local issues that affect their community, free from central command and 'party baggage' independent candidates standing under our slogan people not politicians. Remember we are a movement not a party.

LEADER – COMRADES MOVEMENT

I believe we are not far from the tipping point, membership requests have trebled we now get almost as many everyday as we used to get in a week. I am really encouraged to see how many younger people are joining us. Make no mistake our message is getting through but with that comes a downside. We can now expect attacks on NBU to increase, from the establishment, the far left and the useful idiots embedded in nationalism.
The way to beat this is by following our creed of Leader - Comrades - Movement.

Anyone within or without this movement who causes problems is your enemy and the enemy of your comrades. We are on the verge of a real breakthrough, we must remain steadfast, we must remain disciplined and above all we must remain loyal. Loyal to our Leader, our comrades and our movement.

Why do so many vote for parties and politicians that clearly work against the national interest?

It is because while the public are busy getting on with their lives, manipulators devote a great deal of time finding ways to trick the public into accepting ideas that they would normally deem unacceptable.This has been achieved mainly through what scientists call "the power of conformity". They realised that only around 16% of the public think deeply about subjects, and that most will go along with what can be made to appear the majority point of view. (Even, if that view is utter nonsense and detrimental to their wellbeing.) In a test televised on 12th November 2016, a class were told to give a clearly wrong answer to a simple question. One single person was added to the class who knew nothing of the experiment. When this lone entrant saw the rest of the class giving the wrong answer they also chose the wrong answer. Proving that a desire to be in agreement with the majority, is more appealing for most than being correct.

The Flame

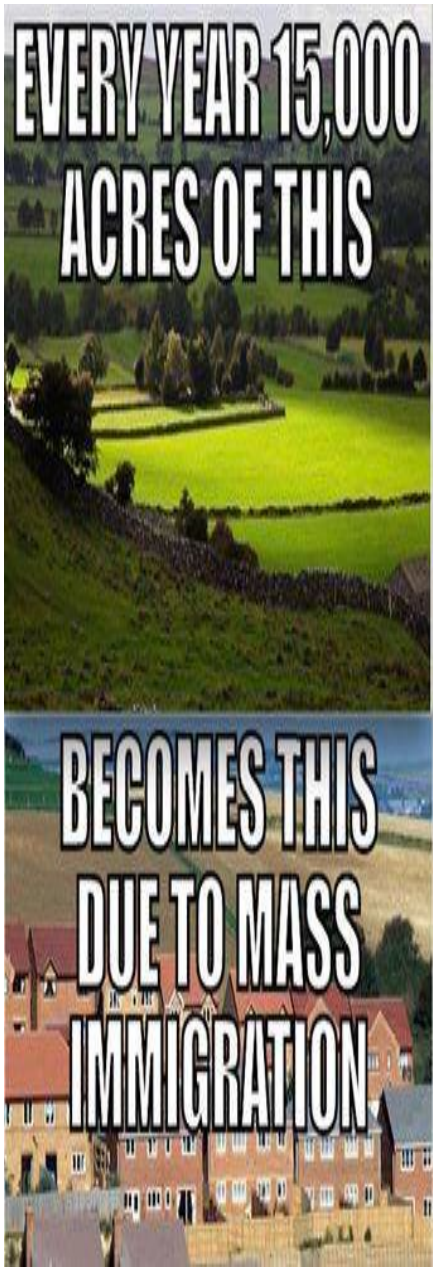

I am totally dismayed by the amount of left wing propaganda in the British media denouncing Donald Trump in the light of his recent law preventing Islamic refugees from certain rogue nations entering the USA. Whilst the official line of this government may not be to support this legislation, I would respectfully caution you to tune in to the will of the average British national. If a poll were conducted throughout the nation, you would, I am sure find a majority in favour of introducing a similar ban to all Islamic refugees from the nations Mr Trump has restricted. To deny this simple fact is the equivalent of an ostrich burying its head in the sand.

Sadly we live in uncertain and tumultuous times, and I would respectfully petition that this Government consider the interests of the majority of fair minded British nationals. The silent majority of this nation. Please stand firm in the pressure from the largely biased and dysfunctional left wing media. When the U.K. leaves the E.U. we will, more than ever, need the friendship of our friends and allies in the U.S.A., and the security of a bilateral free trade agreement, and military co-operation. This government cannot cave in to left wing pressure to cancel the honour of a state visit that Theresa May recently accorded on President Trump. This country needs allies against the tyranny, hostility, bitterness and ineptitude of the European Union. We need to stand firm with the Trump administration and embrace the welcome winds of change that are currently getting the so called "liberal elite", and delusional "snowflake generation" across both North America and Europe up in arms. Brexit was the will of the majority of this nation, a result of us wanting to take back control of our own destiny, in the face of the tyrannical vice-like communist grip of the E.U. We do not need left wing liberals trying to derail this process. There is currently a petition signed by over 500,000 persons asking that we rescind the state visit of Donald Trump, meaning that this now risks disrespecting and offending our American allies, by the shame of it actually having to be debated in Parliament! If you look at the demographics of whomever has signed this heinous petition, I would garner that most of those signatures that are genuine and not fraudulently generated by rogue or hacked computers, are from the liberal "snowflake" generation, exacerbated by the wet and insipid comments of the leaders of both opposition parties.

To balance my comments about Islam earlier, lest you assume that my comments are racially motivated, and based on the fear and mistrust of persons of said religion, someone in the Saudi Arabian administration was recently asked why they did not take in Islamic refugees. Their exact response was "It's too unsafe." When a fellow Islamic nation states this, then is it an inconvenient truth to ask why we, as a Christian nation (to quote David Cameron) must take them in as well? There are enough disadvantaged British nationals sleeping on the streets (including ex-military personnel). Surely it is our Christian duty to help these people first, against the needs of persons from the aforementioned nations, all of whom will never assimilate or contribute to our society, and remain a drain on the taxpayer for the duration of their lives. I refer you again to my earlier comment. If an open and honest poll were conducted throughout the grassroots of decent British society, I am 100% confident that this would back up what I am saying. Donald Trump is absolutely correct in what he has done in the U.S.A., in restricting the entry of nationals from these rogue nations, and I wish with all my heart, that this government would take a similar stance, lest the horrors of what has recently occurred in Germany, France and Belgium reach our own shores.

Tony Poxon

Our politicians are forever bemoaning the fact that we need to build more houses and that our hospitals are too full and we do not have enough staff.

What is their answer to these problems? Easy! Bring in more outlanders to build houses on our shrinking greenfield sites and to work in our hospitals. Why don't they see this will only make matters worse?

All these incomers will need even more houses and there will be more patients in the hospitals.

Drastic answers are needed. No more should be let in and any already here suspected of being here illegally should be sent back, as should all outsiders who are out-of-work. Protests should be dealt with by our police, as should those who refuse to leave.

After this anybody from abroad needed here should be on six-month contracts and once the job is over or an English person could do the job the outsider should go home. I worked in Basel in Switzerland in the early 1960s and this system worked well there.

HAVE YOUR SAY

Fellow Comrades,

We can look at the world and see the shifting sentiment sending the masses flocking to our cause. I endeavor daily to educate everyone I meet in the true values of fascism and to awaken them from the leftist propaganda they have been spoon fed their entire lives. We must all aspire to prove to the people that fascism is not the monster so many would try to have them believe but the one and only way to make this country prosperous and great in unity. Keep fighting for this country ! We owe her so much !

One country
One people
One leader

Hail Britannia
Hail the leader
Hail the New British Union

Regards,
G.H.T.

Today only pensioners can remember a time when doors were left unlocked, when children could roam freely, without fear of murderers, emboldened by a government that doesn't believe in traditional punishment, and child molesters that have the full support of the many perverts in power. Western governments and their allies in the mass media have been allowed to freely promote their anti-civilisation programme, and define anyone who opposes them as evil. Clearly our governments do not serve moral Europeans. In the 1950's mayors, police chiefs, community leaders and almost all the voters were white. Why did our people step aside and allow the positions of power to be occupied by Zionists, communists, Freemasons and arrogant aliens. From the early 1960's this enemy began its cultural-revolution with the start of the mass non-white immigration programme. This was to destroy our national identity, culture, confidence and cohesion. As a result we have lost our sense of community and feeling of belonging to an extended family. However, the Zionist Jews, principally responsible for the attack, made sure that their community was not affected.

I was one of the bnp members who met with Gary last week to hear about the NBU and the quiet revolution. What a breath of fresh air. A new way of doing things instead of repeated efforts being wasted on elections nationalists can not win. I will be interested to see if his prediction for the Stoke by election comes true, if it does many more of us may be ready to join the NBU.

CHARLIE GRANT

NEW BRITISH UNION – NEW BRITISH FASCISM – NEW BRITISH HOPE

The 'reds' have a long history of using' violence to silence' stretching back to the start of the 1900's the same tactics used against nationalists today have not changed, for example the press reported in 1922, "Mr Churchill who addressed an audience of 5000 persons at the Drill hall Dundee last night met with so much interruption and disorder from the Labour element that the meeting was eventually abandoned".

Later the more violent side was exposed by Patrick Donner MP who wrote in 1934 after an Oswald Mosley meeting had been attacked, "Fact is that many of the communists were armed with razors, stockings filled with broken glass, knuckle-dusters and iron bars."

One does not have to look too hard to find numerous reports of violent attacks by the 'reds' leading right up to today and the despicable hammer attack on a nationalist just a few years ago. Indeed volumes could be written on this subject to expose the lies of the left and one day they will be.

The government, red or blue along with the media have also a long history, one of ignoring the truth over such incidents. In 1962 after 14 years of holding orderly meetings in Trafalgar Square at the very moment nationalists began to gain success since the war red violence began again. George Wigg MP who witnessed the event, "The trouble was caused by about 300 out of several thousands, mostly young people determined to break the meeting up."

Evidence is conclusive that trouble in the past as today is caused by a small minority. The result of this 1962 incident was that the government banned all meetings by the Union Movement taking place in the Square, thus the recipe for closing down free speech in Britain was established. Take along a few well organised reds to make a row in the middle of a large and orderly meeting, the government will then close down not the reds but the speaker. The Government has in effect removed free speech by closing meeting at the behest of any small but highly organised bunch of red thugs.

Sir Oswald Mosley wrote in 1968;

"It is also possible to kill freedom by smothering it by the power of money with the connivance of the state. There is not much freedom left to the individual with a new opinion when the press, radio, TV (and soon maybe even the internet) are denied to him, using the police not to keep order at outdoor meetings but to ban the meeting and to stop the proceedings the moment organised opposition threatens disorder, the triumph of democracy in Britain has disposed of what Mussolini called the rotting corpse of liberty".

Forty-four years later nothing has changed, this is why we have to do things differently, a new approach is required and that is what NBU is all about, doing things differently, more professionally, more honestly and more effectively. However I am not about to tell you how, its time to stop standing on the sidelines join us and see for yourself and be part of the future not the past.

FEATURED NBU OFFICER

Regional officer Wales

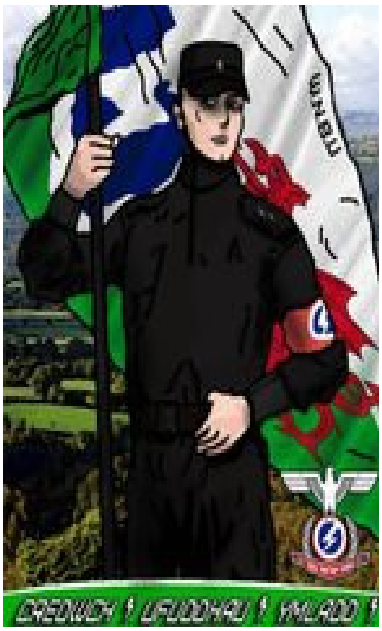

My name's Michael Kevin McAllister Hendry or as people at work have always called me, "Hamish"
I'm from Glasgow in Scotland, a little place called Castlemilk I spent a year in The Military Preparation School in Cardiff and learnt some discipline. Originally my intentions were to enrol in the army and go to be a tank commander, however my mother got in contact with me and let me know my younger brother (one of them) was seriously ill, so I went back to Scotland where I did the same as previous years and helped out family.

When I turned 18 years old, I decided to move back down to Wales and spent a year with my brother Bobby and during this time I did some SIA security work in Wales and Bristol.

Right now I'm 21 years old and I work as a recruitment consultant in Newport, but likely I'll be moved to Cardiff. Some of my personal interests are probably what you can expect from someone my age, I enjoy video games and taking part in discussions on sites such as Reddit. I do take part in Viking live re-enactments where we'll use steel axes/swords and other weapons we're trained in to fight each other the "death" in front of crowds.

I decided to join the party when I was online searching one night. I'd heard quite a great deal about Sir Mosley and I wished that somehow those ideals could be spread today. After some further googling, I came across the NBU site where I researched the party and decided I wanted to help my country by joining the party as it's one that honestly relates to me. The words that Mosley spread 80 years ago where he claimed Britain was a former superpower shine truer now than even then and I feel that we deserve to take our rightful spot once more as the global superpower. Something I feel we can easily achieve with a restructure of the parliament so it truly represents the Briton, no matter where in the Isles he hails from.

The failure of the Hellenic Republic.

Comrades,
Ever since the republic took place and the failed system of absolute democracy took over in 1974, after an illegal plebiscite which was against the constitution and was rigged by the various money-eaters, my country has went to a complete downhill. Democracy enabled the uneducated or the poorly educated to vote for the future of my country for the sake of receiving "rusfetia"(A Greek word for a placement in the public sector by a politician after asking a person to vote for him) in order to work somewhere, therefore causing a complete collapse of the social system and causing a huge impact in the future of my country. Our great King has long since have been trying to regain power but the "progressives"- which is another term for a mentally ill left-wing liberal- always attempt to block him from ever becoming the leader of the Hellenic people, which is in fact his legal position.

Furthermore, in the recent years, a new wave of left-wing activism and social libertarianism and cultural Marxism has erupted. These people caused huge riots resulting in injuries and in rare cases deaths of innocent Hellenes.The worst thing that has happened till today is that their most prominent figure- and leader-, Alexandros Tsipras entered the parliament "of the Hellenes" (a more proper term would be Parliament of the Big Interests of Corrupt Politicians).

While the vast majority of the Hellenes chose to abstain from the elections, since (almost) every politician is corrupt, the people who did vote voted for him. That is the most heinous thing about democracy: it actually enables a biased minority to vote for the future of the country! Greece would be in a much better state if elections were abolished and a National Fascist Government was established with an educated and charismatic leader. The word "fascist" is actually used by libertarians, liberals and left-wingers to describe all of their opponents, including people who are not actually fascist.

Some of you are likely to think that Golden Dawn is a good choice for Greece. To be honest it is not. It's leader was a corrupt KYP agents who received lots, lots of money, plus while this party is nationalistic, it is actually supportive of the failed democratic system; therefore making it quite unsuitable for forming a government. Plus the majority of their ideals are against all Fascist Ideals.

Finally, the media does not cover the truth in any way, they do not show that the illegal migrants coming in are actually from rich Islamic countries and that the people there carry high-end phones and are well dressed. All the NGOs that claim to offer assistance are actually secretly cooperating with the globalist party that is torturing Greece for the past 2 years. I have witnessed these illegal migrants with my own eyes and I assure you that they are not what they seem.

I have seen one inside a tram wearing a Rolex watch and carrying an iPhone 6!He disembarked at the "refugee" camp of Hellenikon Airport soon after. I have also seen a few arrivals on the Piraeus port. They looked anything but poor and tortured.

Nobody does anything about it since the government forces even independent news outlets to tell false news.

Also, the government cooperates and shows huge tolerance towards anarchist thugs, enabling them to attack innocent people and properties and public facilities with relative ease.

I hope that the Hellenic people will wake up and cooperate with Britain and the rest of Europe in order to combat all issues. But this seems almost certainly impossible as propaganda and brainwashing starts from a tender age. Greece is nowadays a bananocracy.

Hail Britannia, Hail Victory, Hail Hellas and Hail Raikes, Vasileios K.Spiliopoulos - Greek member of the NBU.

Councillor information

What matters to you in your local area? Is it the state of the local park, the need for more activities for young people, improving services for older people, making the roads safer or ensuring that local businesses can thrive? Whatever needs changing in your neighbourhood, you could be just the person to change it by becoming a local councillor.

What do councillors do?
Councillors are elected to the local council to represent their local community, so they must either live or work in the area. Becoming a councillor is both a rewarding and privileged form of public service. You will be in a position to make a difference to the quality of other people's daily lives and prospects.

What is expected of a councillor?
The councillor's role and responsibilities include:
- representing the ward for which they are elected
- decision-making
- developing and reviewing council policy
- cabinet
- regulatory, quasi-judicial and statutory duties
- community leadership and engagement.

Councillors may also sit on quasi-judicial committees, for example the planning committee, which takes non-political decisions on planning applications. The number and length of these meetings varies from council to council. If you are a member of a political party you will also be expected to attend political group meetings, party training and other events.

Could I be a councillor?
If you care about the area that you live or work in and the issues facing local people, you could be a councillor. Perhaps you enjoy reading the local newspaper and often have a strong opinion on the issues you read about. You may enjoy talking to friends and colleagues about what's going on in the area. You may feel that certain sections of the community or people who live in a particular neighbourhood are getting a raw deal and need stronger representation. Research tells us that people are most concerned about issues such as crime, schools, transport and the environment. Your local council can make a difference on all these issues and many more, and so can you as a local councillor.

I don't have the time...
How much time you spend on your duties as a councillor is largely up to you and will depend on the particular commitments you take on. One council estimates the time commitment as ranging from five to 20 hours a week. Your role within the council will determine how much time you spend on council duties. Joining a planning committee, for example, will increase your workload.
You will be expected to attend some council committee meetings, which are often held in the evening so that councillors can attend after work. As with most things in life, what you get back will depend on how much you put in. But remember, the amount of time you give to it is almost entirely up to you.

Becoming a councillor can be the next step.
Who can be a councillor? The easy answer is almost anyone, as long as you are: • British or a citizen of the Commonwealth or European Union • at least 18 years old • registered to vote in the area or have lived, worked or owned property there for at least 12 months before an election. You can't be a councillor if you work for the council you want to be a councillor for, or for another local authority in a politically restricted post • are the subject of a bankruptcy restrictions order or interim order • have been sentenced to prison for three months or more (including suspended sentences) during the five years before election day • have been convicted of a corrupt or illegal practice by an election court. If you are in any doubt about whether you are eligible to stand as a councillor, you should contact the returning officer in the electoral services department at your local council for advice.

Independent or political?
Over 95 per cent of councillors are members of political parties, but you don't have to be a member of a political party to stand for election as a councillor. You can either stand as an independent candidate or as a group or party political candidate. The political parties in your local area are already looking for people interested in representing them and will be pleased to hear from you. They will be able to support your election campaign and your work as a councillor. Don't worry if you're not already a party member as they will be able to go through all the options with you. Some parties have special training and encouragement schemes for new candidates. Some places have organised residents' associations or community groups which put candidates up for election.

Will I get paid for being a councillor?
Councillors do not receive a salary. However, they do get a 'member's allowance' in recognition of their time and expenses incurred while on council business. Each council sets its own rate for members' allowances, and you can find out more information about allowances from your local council or through its website. Teaches Irish dancing Loves shopping for shoes Has six Blue Peter badges Local Councillor

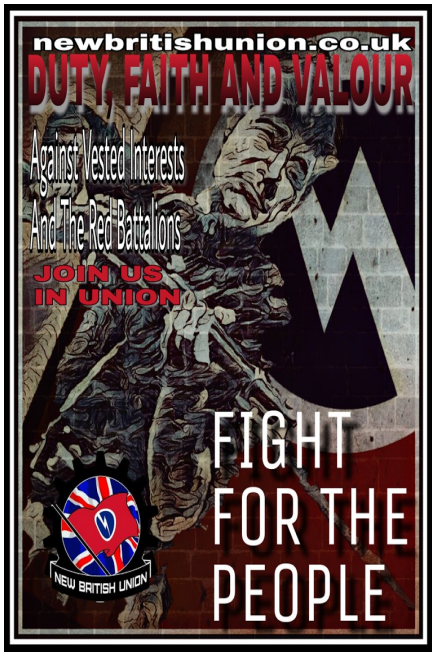

Can I be a councillor and have a job? Yes. By law if you are working your employer must allow you to take a reasonable amount of time off during working hours to perform your duties as a councillor. The amount of time given will depend on your responsibilities and the effect of your absence on your employer's business. You should discuss this with your employer before making the commitment to stand for election.

What support is available to councillors?
Councils have staff available to provide support and assistance to councillors, regardless of whether you belong to a political party or group. Exactly what facilities you will get depends on the council. Many will provide a computer for your home and some may provide paid-for internet access and an additional telephone line and/or mobile phone. You will be using email and the internet, and many councillors now choose to keep in touch with local people through social networking services such as Twitter and Facebook. You can expect full IT training tailored to suit your needs. Councils also provide induction and training for new councillors on many other aspects of the job.

Next steps
Once you decide you want to take it further and put yourself forward as a candidate, what's the next step?
If you are thinking of standing as an independent candidate you can contact your council's electoral services department to see when elections are next taking place. The Local Government Association's independent group can also provide information. Your next step as an independent candidate is to start building your profile so that local people know who you are, and working out your position on local 'hot' issues such as crime, traffic, the environment and schools. You will need to know what your local council is doing about these issues and how your own opinion differs from the political parties. Nearer election time, as you start going door to door persuading people to vote for you, you will be challenged on your opinions.

Whether you have been selected by a party or are standing as an i independent candidate, you must make sure that you are officially nominated as the election date draws nearer. This means getting 10 people to sign your nomination papers (signatories must be registered electors in the ward where you wish to stand). These papers are available from your local council's democratic services department. You must also give your consent in writing to your nomination. All the necessary documents must be submitted 19 working days before the day of the election. For more information on this visit www.beacouncillor.org.uk

Fascism in the past was a modern driving force that adapted to the situation of the time. New British Union is New Fascism and as such has adapted to the situation we face today. Fascism was not strait jacketed into any strict ideology if something did not work it would be discarded in favour of policy that would work. Getting results that benefited the country and its people were important not being tied to any blinkered political vision.

This fact seems to have escaped the 'old guard' they slavishly follow an old doctrine of fascism no longer relevant to the current situation Britain faces. Movements that do not evolve and adapt simply die out, the NF is a good example, the BNP that used to take two steps forward and one back now take one forward and two back!

New Fascism is attracting the young in a way 'nationalist' parties have failed to do, NBU's modern approach to fascism while retaining a link with the past is working. The old guard are out of step and out of time let them remain in their dusty drinking clubs sheltered from the reality of today's world.

Armchair generals that attack NBU yet lack the courage and conviction to do anything in the real world should note that NBU is based on the BUF not a carbon copy or some sort of fan club. Like Mosley and all other fascists in the past we have taken the best of 'left and right' today we have taken the best of old Fascism to forge a new future, discipline, dedication, direction proud to wear the black shirt and fly the flag of British Fascism today and tomorrow.

Hail Britannia.

New British Union political uniforms a statement.

As the only movement that stands openly against sham democracy we have no wish to emulate the political class, we are different and will be seen to be different. We consider it our right as a Fascist organisation based on voluntary discipline to wear political uniform if we so desire.

In keeping with the 1936 Public Order Act at the present uniforms will be only worn in private meetings or at private events. We intend to challenge this outdated attack on our personal liberty as we believe it to be an Act passed solely to stop the progress of the BUF in the Thirty's and not to tackle the problem of public disorder as this has long since been proven to have been caused by communist agitators.

New British Union also in keeping with the 1936 Public Order Act are not nor ever will be;

(A) Organised or trained or equipped for the purpose of enabling them to be employed in usurping the functions of the police or of the armed forces of the Crown; or

(B) Organised and trained or organised and equipped either for the purpose of enabling them to be employed for the use or display of physical force in promoting any political object, or in such manner as to arouse reasonable apprehension that they are organised and either trained or equipped for that purpose.

The wearing of uniform does not make us a quasi-military organization any more than it does the Salvation Army or the boy scouts. It merely separates us from the old failed establishment parties and a political elite that the majority no longer trusts to govern the country for the true benefit of its people.

As crisis develops so must the intensity of NBU propaganda increase. More and more of the available resources of the movement must be devoted to providing the ammunition of battle, which is propaganda material.

People should anticipate a critical period at no very distant future and it behoves us to see what British Fascists ought to do by way of preparation. It is plainly imperative for each of our members to be up and doing. Not a day must be lost. Ours is practically the only movement that is definitely organising to take effective action, but it needs to be vastly increased both in material and man power at the earliest opportunity.

There are two ways by which this can be effected. Firstly by propaganda which requires money. Secondly by personal effort, which needs self denial. If every member of NBU were to deny themselves to the tune of two pounds a week we would be able to triple our activities. Could not each of us forego one pint or one packet of cigarettes a week? Many of us could do more than that so surely this appeal will not fall on deaf ears, for the essence of Fascism is self sacrifice.

Passing to the question of how to increase membership. It is the plain and immediate duty of every member to enrol other patriots. Here again personal effort is needed. You will not convince others save by the force of your argument backed up with proof. Remember that red doctrines have got there first, especially amongst the young. The propaganda has been skilfully and plausibly broadcast and has been spread like a disease throughout the whole country.

We Fascists are like the antidote injected into the veins of a sick person, every one of us should be an active germ of health. We all must be up and doing.

It will need considerable self denial in giving up some of our leisure time to study and equip ourselves for the task, and in making the attempt to gain converts, but our country is in danger, and is surely worth all our efforts.

This is the first occasion on which a wide public appeal has been made for financial help in our propaganda, and it is the first opportunity afforded to our membership and supporters to help in this particular work.

Please give what you can, every penny will be used in promoting NBU and New-Fascism to our embattled people, thank-you
